

EXPLORE HEALTHCARE CONSULTING

WHAT IS HEALTHCARE CONSULTING?

A Healthcare Consultant helps organizations find ways to improve, reorganize the infrastructure and enhance a section of the organization to increase efficiency. This involves identifying the problem and researching company data to determine methods to save money or improve efficiency. Consultants must also file written reports and present to the clients. In some cases, the consultant will help implement the changes that they recommended.

RELATED STUDENT ORGS

- Wisconsin Consulting Club
- Badger Consulting
- Healthcare Finance Club
- Technology Entrepreneurship in Changing Healthcare
- Healthcare Occupations Students of America
- Health Professions Society

HIRING TRENDS

- Beginning of semester; October or February

REQUIRED EDUCATION

- Bachelor's Degree in Business or Health Sciences
- Master's Degree improves employment in private industries.
- Certified Management Consultant Designation can be helpful but not necessary

PROFESSIONAL ORGANIZATIONS

- National Society of Certified Healthcare Business Consultants
- American Association of Healthcare Consultants
- Institute of Management Consultants Inc.

FREQUENT JOB TITLES

- Associate Consultant
- Junior Management Consultant
- Management Consultant

QUALIFICATIONS

- Effective Written and Oral Communication Skills
- Self-Motivated
- Interpersonal Skills
- Analytical Skills

COMMON EMPLOYERS

- Healthcare Companies
- Healthcare Information Technology Services
- Management Consulting Companies
- Data Science Company
- Healthcare IT Companies